Reference:

Education Code Section 66015.7

College credit travel study programs and fee-based travel study programs may be offered by the colleges. Travel Study programs and courses through CLPCCD aim to expand upon the educational offerings at our home campuses by providing students with engaging and enriching opportunities to earn credits, broaden their perspectives, and enrich themselves personally and professionally, all while learning about other cultures. Travel Study aligns with our commitment to institutionally support opportunities for students to explore critical global issues inside and outside the classroom.

Board Approval:

- a. Fee-based travel conducted through Community Services and offered to the community at large for personal enrichment must obtain Board approval of travel company vendors^[CE1]^[CE2]. Company vendors may revise or cancel their programs in time of war, regional conflict, public health emergency, or natural disaster.
- b. College credit travel study must also obtain Board approval of travel company vendors, if applicable, as well as Board approval of faculty and student travel, consistent with all international travel from the District. Any full-time or part-time faculty member may propose a travel study program for college credit. A program application including relevant course outlines/s, a detailed itinerary, daily activities, and estimated cost, including insurance, shall be submitted for consideration to the college Vice President for Academic Services. The District may revise or cancel college credit travel study programs in time of war, regional conflict, public health emergency, or natural disaster.
- c. Fee-based travel led by faculty through private company vendors or on their own will not be board approved and will not be advertised by Community Services.
- d. No District equipment, supplies, or postage shall be used in the development, advertisement, or operation of fee-based travel that has not been officially Board approved as outlined. If fee-based travel is led by faculty, the faculty leader/s can recruit for the fee-based travel on campus but shall use their personal email account/s to communicate with prospective and registered travelers and clarify that the travel venture is not sponsored by the college.
- e. Faculty and staff may promote college-credit study programs sponsored by other colleges and private companies just as they would promote other types of scholarships, internships, and learning opportunities, using their college email accounts.

Contract Parameters and Program Release Forms:

- a. Required Insurance Coverage:

1. The college shall also be responsible for ensuring that the company vendor will provide sufficient accidental death and dismemberment and accident and sickness insurance, with a Board recommendation of no less than $10,000 in each category for each trip participant. In addition, the vendor shall provide trip cancellation and baggage loss insurance for participating students.^[MOU3] Evidence must be provided that the company vendor possesses general comprehensive liability insurance of no less than $1,000,000 combined single limit, and the vendor shall provide a certificate of insurance naming Chabot-Las Positas Community College District as "additional insured."^[MOU4]

Funding of Travel Study Programs

- a. Travel study programs may be funded by several means:
1. College credit classes may be funded as part of the college's budget allocation for FTES generation. Such provisions shall be included in the executed contract between the District and contractor.^[MOU5]
 2. Company Vendors may provide traveling and living expenses, as well as teaching supplies and facilities, for instructors. Such provisions shall be included in the executed contract between the District and the company vendor. Traveling, living, and course material expenses will be included in the trip cost and paid by the student.
 3. A student's enrollment in a college credit travel study program approved for credit by CLPCCD or any other college may be considered enrollment for the purpose of applying for assistance under Title IV. Title IV financial aid is federally funded aid such as Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), Federal Perkins Loan, Federal Subsidized and Unsubsidized Direct Loans.
 4. Fee-based travel will be funded entirely by the student's trip participant fees.
