- Questions

Origin of The New Accountability Framework

- Student Success Task Force (SSTF) Recommendation

- SSTF recommendation emphasized that a Scorecard be built on the existing accountability system (ARCC)

- ARCC Advisory Workgroup designed the new Scorecard

Four Levels of The New Accountability Framework

State of the System (First Level)

Metrics:

- Annual Number of Transfers to Baccalaureate Institutions
- Annual Number of Awards by Award Type
- Wages for Students Attaining Awards
- System-wide Participation Rates
- All Scorecard Metrics aggregated to a System level

Four Levels of The New Accountability Framework

Scorecard (Second Level)

Metrics:

- A College Profile (including enrollment/FTES information and selected operating ratios)

- Student Progress & Achievement Rate: rate at which degree/transfer-seeking students earn these outcomes within six years of entering)

- Persistence Rate (rate at which students continuously enroll for their first three terms upon entry)

- 30 Unit Achievement Rate: rate at which degree/transfer-seeking students reach the 30-unit "momentum point"

Four Levels of The New Accountability Framework

Scorecard (Second Level) - Continued

Metrics:

- Math/English Progression Rate: rate at which students that start in remedial math or English complete degree-applicable/transferrable level math/English courses

- Career Technical Education (CTE) Completion Rate: rate at which CTE/vocational certificate seeking "concentrators" earn any award or transfer

- Career Development and College Preparation (CDCP) Completion Rate: rate at which students in Career Development/College Prep Noncredit "concentrator" programs earn degrees

Four Levels of The New Accountability Framework

Scorecard (Third Level)

- Drill down further into the scorecard metrics through the existing online query tool, Datamart 2.0

Four Levels of The New Accountability Framework

Scorecard (Fourth Level)

- The ability for college researcher to download the datasets pertaining to each metric

Timeline for the New Accountability Framework

- Draft report (Scorecard) due to colleges in January 2013

- Final report (Scorecard) due to State Legislature and Governor's Office by March 31, 2013

- Colleges have one year from when the final report is released to present the scorecard to their local board of trustees

Additional Facts about the New Accountability Framework

- No college self-assessment process

- Peer grouping will be available (however, eliminated from the report).

- Board of Trustee interactions required

- Presentation at California Association for Institutional Research (CAIR) conference (November 7-9)

- Presentation at the Community College League of California (CCLC) conference (November 15-17).

- CCCCO webinar on November 26, 2012 (10am-12pm)
